Livelihoods and Food Security Trust Fund

The Livelihoods and Food Security Trust Fund (LIFT) is a multi-donor fund set up in 2010 to improve the lives and prospects of poor and vulnerable people in rural Myanmar.

LIFT targets smallholder farmer families and landless rural poor people, funding projects that help them to raise their incomes, improve their nutrition and food security and live better lives. Our projects provide opportunities for inclusive, sustainable growth, for quality harvests, improved access to credit, machinery and markets, while bolstering people's abilities to cope with setbacks and change.

So far, LIFT has reached over seven million people, roughly 20 per cent of the country's rural population, and is active in over two-thirds of the country's townships.

Our vision is to be a collective and influential voice for innovation and learning, and to provide a platform for enhanced policy engagement on sustainable agriculture, food security and rural development.

Our goal is to sustainably reduce the number of people in Myanmar living in poverty and hunger.

Our purpose is to increase the livelihoods resilience and nutrition of poor people in Myanmar by focusing on interventions that increase income, food availability, utilisation and stability of access to food.
